What Kind of LEGO® Holiday Parade Float Will You Make?

Who will be on your LEGO Float this year?

Johnny Thunder or the LEGO Hoop All-Stars? Astrobots Biff and Sandy, or your favorite Drome Racing team? Log on to www.LEGOclub.com and tell us who you would pick to pilot your float in this year's LEGO Town Holiday Parade!

It's that time of year!

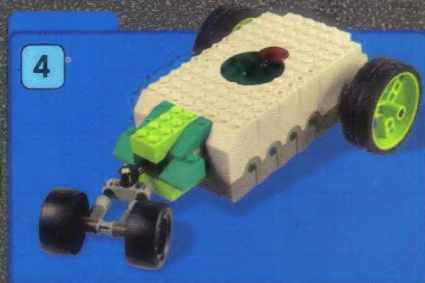

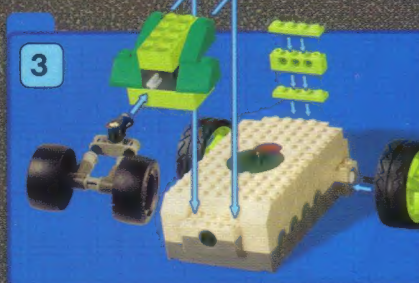

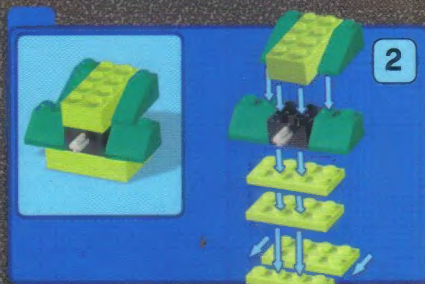

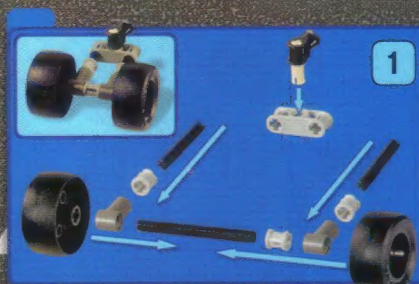

LEGO Minifigures will soon gather from far and wide for the annual LEGO Town Holiday Parade. This year, Grand Marshals Rick and Bob will host a cavalcade of colorful lights, Minifigure marching bands and Fabulous LEGO-themed Floats! You can design a motorized float to feature in your own LEGO holiday parade. Just build the base below, decorate it with your favorite Minifigures and models, then program it to circle your holiday tree. You can even use it as a gift trolley to deliver presents to your friends and family!

You can make this holiday float base unit using bricks from the LEGO Inventor Record and Play set (4095).

You can also find step-by-step instructions for more holiday models on the web!

LOOK WHAT WE MADE!

What's on your holiday wish list? An automatic coin flipper? A giant, red-eyed scorpion? A crazy climbing monkey? Those are just a few of the creative contraptions these LEGO® Club members will be decking their halls with this holiday season!

Name: Tommy Longworth
Age: 12
Hobby: Building with LEGO bricks!
Designer Set: Maximum Wheels (4100)

I found many unique pieces in this set that I had never seen before (and I have lots of LEGO pieces!) There were plenty of pieces for building a variety of different models, including 12 wheels, different colored lights, engine parts and curved pieces. I thought the red curved pieces were especially unique. They can be used to create really nice, aerodynamic vehicles. My favorite model was the crane because I could actually lift things with it.

Name: Benjamin DeWilde
Age: 13
Hobbies: Building models, playing with LEGO sets, Nebraska football!
Inventor Set: Motor Movers (4094)

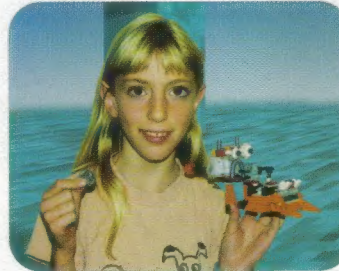

I've played long and hard with this LEGO Inventor set and I think it's great! What I liked best were all the motors and gears included in the set. They allowed me to invent lots of creations that could walk, jump, spin, climb, roll, toss LEGO bricks, and move in any other way I could imagine. It's hard to pick which model was my favorite because I liked them all!

Name: Brandon Matthew Rys
Age: 10
Hobbies: Building models, violin
Designer Set: Robobots (4099)

I designed four new models with the pieces in the Robobots set: three space ships, and Scorpio, the giant, red-eyed scorpion, which is my personal favorite. The best part about this set is all the chrome pieces. I had a great time building with this set!

Name: Rachel Yovanovich
Age: 10
Hobbies: Reading, playing baseball, making LEGO models
Designer Set: Wild Wind-Up (4093)

I built a few of the models from the Idea book, then decided to create one of my own. My invention is called "Head's up, Tail's up!" It can flip a coin for you. It will flip a penny, a nickel, a dime, or even a quarter, while its eyes turn in their sockets. Wild Wind-up is a wonderful set!

All LEGO Designer and Inventor Sets Feature:

- A special Idea Book packed with alternate models and step-by-step plans
- Unique new colors and pieces
- Moving elements that bring your models to life
- Three levels of building—Quick, Experienced and Advanced—to challenge the whole family!

LEGO® building challenge

Enter the LEGO® Out of This World Building Challenge!

Now that NASA has sent Rovers to explore Mars, which planet should be next? Where would you send Astrobots Sandy Moondust and Biff Starling on their next mission? And what kind of special machine would you give them to explore that planet?

Build your idea of the next NASA exploration vehicle, then write a 50-word essay telling us which planet Biff and Sandy will take it to, and how they will use it to explore that world. You could be a winner!

Transmissions between Sandy Moondust and Biff Starling, now traveling aboard the two Mars Exploration Rover (MER) spacecraft.

- Biff: Dudette, you checked out Mars lately? It looks like a huge disk. We must be getting closer!
- Sandy: Sorry, Biff, I've been a little busy reviewing my pre-landing checklists and studying the entire scientific history of Mars.
- Biff: Whoa, lighten up! I'm scheduled to arrive first and I'm calm as can be. Take some time to smell the roses.
- Sandy: Roses would not survive in space, nor could we smell them.
- Biff: Hey, I've been going over landing procedures. We'll come screaming through the Martian atmosphere, parachutes deploying, airbags inflating, then - WHOMP! Sounds like a rush!
- Sandy: Yes, I suppose. (Gulp!) ...Don't worry, I'll be fully prepared by January.
- Biff: Cool, I'll be there waiting for you. With roses!
